THE EDITORIAL AND NEWS COLUMNS
are under the supervision of an Editorial Board composed of the Directors of the Company, by whom the tone and policy of the Paper is shaped. All communications having for their subjects matters of public interest, and respectfully invited, will be allowed space in THE CITIZEN, but such communications must invariably be accompanied by the full name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the writer. The desire is to allow the largest liberty to contributors. They should be as brief as possible and it must be distinctly understood that THE CITIZEN does not publish on editorial opinions of its correspondents.
Local news items, reports of Society meetings, etc., are solicited, and should reach the office not later than Thursday P. M. to be in time for the current issue.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1886.

Facts.

Facts are stubborn things. Beautiful theories fall to pieces like card-palaces, before the onslaught of established truth. Yet men are loath to admit their power. When a distinguished champion of a scientific theory was confronted with facts which completely demolished his hypothesis, he exclaimed: "Facts, facts, but we object most strenuously to that distribution of parts which assigns that of the dog to ourselves."
The most earnest advocates of this scheme, and those who profess the greatest faith in it, showed the weakness of this faith by rejecting at once, as a thing not even to be considered, the proposition to locate the works at the natural outlet of East Orange, namely, upon the stream flowing by the East Orange Water Works. And they showed their good sense and sound judgement in rejecting this proposal, for they know that the whole scheme is but an experiment and full of risk. The Water Company would soon have made that neighborhood too hot for an experimenting ground. Our rights are no less sacred. Let us assert them, and if need be, defend them.

Humbug (?)

The time is approaching when the term of Mr. Horace Dodd, as postmaster, will expire. We hear a great deal from the Republicans about the removals of competent men simply because of their republicanism; and we hear these statements vehemently denied by the Democrats as "newspaper lies." And so the discussion goes on. Well, now we shall have an opportunity to see how the thing will work under our own observation.

Here is a typical case. No one who cares anything for his reputation in this community will venture to affirm that Mr. Dodd has not made a most excellent postmaster or that his able and affable "assistants" have not been all that could be desired. As for partisanship, either "offensive" or otherwise, as well apply the term sleek to a porcupine as partisan to our present postmaster. Either Mr. Cleveland's civil service reform is a hypocritical humbug and his statements lies, or they are not. It looks as though the time had come for the righteous element of the Bloomfield Democracy to look to itself.

Cannot something be done to compel the Gas Company to light the lamps on time instead of from one quarter to three quarters of an hour late, as is now not infrequently the case? Even when lighted some of the jets are so stopped up that they do not give more than a small part of the light that is paid for. How would it do to deduct something from the bill for all lamps not lighted in time, put out too soon, or burning too feebly? The people of Bloomfield do not owe the foreign stockholders of the Montclair Gas and Water Company any indulgence. Our rights should be insisted upon.

Is there any fund existing a part of which could be used to keep the stone crosswalks clean? The expense would be a trifle and the desirability of the town as a place to live in greatly increased. In default of this, which is perhaps impracticable, cannot the property holders near these walks stir up the proper amount of spirit to undertake the work?

same persuasion; yet he proposes to place the latter in power until the former will do his pleasure. Archimedes once declared that with the earth for a fulcrum and a lever reaching to the stars, he could move the universe. With unlimited powers, possibly a vigorous executive might prevent liquor selling, but where in a democracy can such powers be secured? Even with them the result would be doubtful. The middle ages were devoted to the conversion of mankind to Christianity through the tortures of the inquisition. The experience of several centuries bears witness to the fertility of such measures. Moral advancement is rarely the result of the extensive use of brute force. The world moves; sometimes forward, sometimes backward, urged hither and thither by caprice, passion and self-will, yet ever yielding at last to reason, and the patient restraint of earnest, self-denying men.

Neither passion nor fanaticism should be the rule of legislation, but a wise moderation.
Dynamite may be a useful agent for rending rock, but it is scarcely available for breaking stony hearts.

The Sewage Works.

We are able to state on good authority, that many of the people of East Orange are not less excited over the probably disastrous consequences which will follow the erection of a sewage factory on the proposed site, than the people of Bloomfield appear to be. The fact is that in spite of the rose-colored reports and statements of enthusiasts, scientific and otherwise, to the effect that a practical method has been discovered by which pure and harmless water, even fit to drink, can be furnished as the output of a sewage works, cool-headed and candid people, both scientific and otherwise, still say nay. The process has, we admit, now arrived at a stage where it is advisable to try it on the dog, but we object most strenuously to that distribution of parts which assigns that of the dog to ourselves.

The most earnest advocates of this scheme, and those who profess the greatest faith in it, showed the weakness of this faith by rejecting at once, as a thing not even to be considered, the proposition to locate the works at the natural outlet of East Orange, namely, upon the stream flowing by the East Orange Water Works. State Items.

The Passaic Zinc Company has resumed work in its mines at Ogdensburg, after a suspension of nearly two years. These mines were worked for twenty five years without the loss of a day until this stoppage. As mining is the chief industry at Ogdensburg the resumption of work in them gladdens many hearts.

The wreck at Ocean Beach has made a gallant fight against the waves and the tide. The mast is still standing, fastened to a piece of the hull. The sand is packed up around the timbers. The wood has been chipped and cut with knives, and bits of this once staunch ship have been carried all over the country as souvenirs.

A syndicate, headed by George G. Green, the Woodbury millionaire, has purchased a tract of two hundred and twenty acres, fronting on the Delaware river and Timber creek, near Westville, about four miles below Camden for the purpose of founding a new town. The price paid was $40,000. The land is to be surveyed and extensive improvements made.

At the last session of the Monmouth county Court strong efforts were made to defeat the applications of all hotel-keepers at Long Branch for liquor licenses and several were refused. Evidence has been secured showing that the unlicensed places have been selling liquor freely and nearly all of them on Sundays. At the October term of Court the cases against these hotels will be prosecuted vigorously.

Officers of the Knights of Honor, with headquarters in Jersey City, are investigating the matter in which Andreas Anders secured a certificate of admission to Goethe Lodge of Newark in October, 1885. A question has been raised as to whether Anders did not send a substitute to the physician to be examined. Dr. Ill says that he does not remember examining Anders, but that there was a possibility of a man sending a substitute. In December he died, and the lodge has refused to pay the benefit, pending the result of the examination.

A piece of wreck washed ashore on Brigantine Beach last week. It was covered with barnacles, moss and other substances. Following this wreck was a large school of fish, about 400 of which were washed ashore with the wreck. The fish are different from any seen there, and, though shown to many old fishermen, none of them have a name for the strangers, and all declare they never saw any of the species before. The fish average about a pound each in weight, and are shaped somewhat like a black fish. In color they are black, with quite large eyes and a large and peculiarly shaped head. Some of the fish are to be sent to Professor Leidy, of Philadelphia.

BLOOMFIELD AVE.Those Elegant Fans
It gives us the greatest satisfaction to be able to announce to our many thousand customers the fact that, owing to the lateness of the season, we have been fortunate in securing our one hundred thousand of those beautiful
LARGE FANS,
At a very small cost, thus enabling us to give one of them to each purchaser of 4 lb. of Tea or Baking Powder or 1 lb. of Coffee, the check being retained by the purchaser. Thus making this heretofore costly article entirely a free gift, whereas we have been for the last two weeks charging 1 lb. check each. The free distribution of the Fans will be continued one week longer. Our customers may consider themselves very fortunate in this turn of affairs, as the Fans would find ready sale anywhere at 25c per copy.Butter. Butter.
The wise acres who have been buying OLBOMAHARINE under the name of BUTTER have just realized that they have been duped now that the former has virtually dropped out of the market, and very bad Butter is being sold at the same prices. To all such we would say,
COME TO US.
We will sell you a good article at a very reasonable price, and no deception will be practiced upon you. Our record is clear. No man dare say to the contrary.
